

Note: Provision #5 of The Code of Ethics for Nurses applies to all programs.

Provision #5 - The nurse owes the same duties to self as to others, including the responsibility to promote health and safety, preserve wholeness of character and integrity, maintain competence, and continue personal and professional growth.

C.E. Offering	Code of Ethics for Nurses Provision (s)
The New Food Lexicon & Our Health: GMOs, Organic, Vegan & More	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy.
Old Vices, New Devices: Vaping 101	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy. Provision #8 – The nurse collaborates with other health professionals and the public to protect human rights, promote health diplomacy, and reduce health disparities.
Understanding the Clinical Effects of Digital Media on Children & Adolescents	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy.
Traveling the Road of Insulin Resistance Through the Body & the BRAIN	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy. Provision #8 – The nurse collaborates with other health professionals and the public to protect human rights, promote health diplomacy, and reduce health disparities.

Note: Provision #5 of The Code of Ethics for Nurses applies to all programs.

Provision #5 - The nurse owes the same duties to self as to others, including the responsibility to promote health and safety, preserve wholeness of character and integrity, maintain competence, and continue personal and professional growth.

C.E. Offering	Code of Ethics for Nurses Provision (s)
Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome: Current Best Practice Recommendations	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy. Provision #8 – The nurse collaborates with other health professionals and the public to protect human rights, promote health diplomacy, and reduce health disparities.
Best Practices in the Nursing Care of Stroke Patients	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy.
Nursing Considerations in the Management of Patients with Antibiotic Resistant Infections	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #3 – The nurse promotes, advocates for, and protects the rights, health, and safety of the patient. Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy.

Note: Provision #5 of The Code of Ethics for Nurses applies to all programs.

Provision #5 - The nurse owes the same duties to self as to others, including the responsibility to promote health and safety, preserve wholeness of character and integrity, maintain competence, and continue personal and professional growth.

C.E. Offering	Code of Ethics for Nurses Provision (s)
An Overview of Evidence-Based Environmental Health Practice at the Massachusetts Department of Public Health	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy. Provision #8 – The nurse collaborates with other health professionals and the public to protect human rights, promote health diplomacy, and reduce health disparities.
ACEs at the Bedside and Beyond: Adverse Childhood Experiences & Adverse Community Experiences	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #7 - The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy. Provision #8 – The nurse collaborates with other health professionals and the public to protect human rights, promote health diplomacy, and reduce health disparities.
Reducing the Risk of Malpractice for the RN	Provision #5 (see above) Provision #3 – The nurse promotes, advocates for, and protects the rights, health, and safety of the patient. Provision #4 – The nurse has authority, accountability, and responsibility for nursing practice; makes decisions; and takes action consistent with the obligation to promote health and to provide optimal care.

Code of Ethics for Nurses

2015*

1. The nurse practices with compassion and respect for the inherent dignity, worth, and unique attributes of every person.
2. The nurse's primary commitment is to the patient, whether an individual, family, group, community, or population.
3. The nurse promotes, advocates for, and protects the rights, health, and safety of the patient.
4. The nurse has authority, accountability, and responsibility for nursing practice; makes decisions; and takes action consistent with the obligation to promote health and to provide optimal care.
5. The nurse owes the same duties to self as to others, including the responsibility to promote health and safety, preserve wholeness of character and integrity, maintain competence, and continue personal and professional growth.
6. The nurse, through individual and collective effort, establishes, maintains, and improves the ethical environment of the work setting and conditions of employment that are conducive to safe, quality health care.
7. The nurse, in all roles and settings, advances the profession through research and scholarly inquiry, professional standards development, and the generation of both nursing and health policy.
8. The nurse collaborates with other health professionals and the public to protect human rights, promote health diplomacy, and reduce health disparities.
9. The profession of nursing, collectively through its professional organizations, must articulate nursing values, maintain the integrity of the profession, and integrate principles of social justice into nursing and health policy.

*Source: Code of Ethics for Nurses with Interpretive Statements, ANA, 2015