

Collective Action Planner

Actions are most successful when initiated and planned by the workers who will be carrying out the action. If you cannot get a large majority committed to the action, then you may want to move to a less risky activity. Add your own ideas to the list. The following list is intended only to begin the process of formulating a strategy and plan.

Collective Action	Risk for Workers a) Least risk involved b) Somewhat risky c) Most risk	Action the Union Might Use button/ribbons/armbands group meetings
group grievance
same color clothes
unity breaks
Petition
march on the boss newsletter/leaflet/flyer community/labor outreach Balloons
phone-in/FAX-in/e-mails march into work together rally/vigil
letters to the editor
work to rule take over of office or meeting public leafleting in community informational picket no confidence vote of management awards for employees picket manager's/director's home radio talk show/community TV boycott of an event stand-up or sit-down on the job color coordinated ink for all work forms meeting with legislators/regulators press conference
civil disobedience		